

Calling all Secondary Schools

Experience what it's like to work in modern business and technology!

Explore career possibilities by taking part in the DiversITy-talent awards to discover what it is like to be a business and tech pro.

With thanks to our founding partners:

Modern business
and tech is not just about coding
and computers

It's creative, full of possibilities
for everyone,
and well paid

You don't need to study ICT or have a STEM degree to get involved the competition or consider a career in modern business and tech

Technology will impact
all jobs of the future and can help you make a difference to the world, in business and in your community

Enter the DiversITy-talent Awards competition to solve a big problem in our society and communities.

How to get involved

Registration is open over November and December 2024 : Submission of your team's solution by May 2025, with the awards event for all finalists in July 2025

Your success will be rewarded!

- You will receive certificates and digital badges at the end of the competition that will be recognised by business
- You have the opportunity to win money for your school to invest in tech-related tools and experiences
- You also have the opportunity to use cutting edge technology to help you implement your solution in your school or community and raise funds through creative digital assets you can sell!

Teachers get a diverse team of 10 together (Half of the team must be girls)

Teaching design thinking is essential and not difficult. We will support you as teachers by giving you a virtual mentor supporting you every step of the way, workbooks, videos, and facilitator guides so you have everything you need to start.

As you tackle the challenge, we will provide workbooks
and technology to help you turn your ideas
into reality.
